Forward Looking Statement

This journal contains or incorporates by reference 'forward-looking statements' regarding the belief or current expectations of Bharat Biotech International Limited, the Directors and other members of its senior management about the Group's businesses and the vision described in this journals.

These forward-looking statements do not relate strictly to historical or current facts and they may be accompanied by such words as "aim," "anticipate," "believe," "could," "estimate," "expect," "forecast," "intend," "may," "plan," "potential," "possible," "will" and other words and terms of similar meaning.

Vaccine development and production involve a high degree of risk, and only a small number of research and development programs result in success. Results in early stage of clinical trials may not be indicative of full results.

One should not put undue reliance on these statements or the scientific data presented. Forward-looking statements are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those reflected in such statements, including: our dependence on sales from our principal products; failure to compete effectively due to significant product competition in the markets for our products; difficulties in obtaining and maintaining adequate coverage, pricing and reimbursement for our products; the occurrence of adverse safety events, restrictions on use with our products or product liability claims; failure to protect and enforce our data, intellectual property and other proprietary rights and the risks and uncertainties relating to intellectual property claims and challenges;

Since forward looking statement are made by management itself they are considered more authentic. However, as they are predictions about the future, there is also a lot of scope for the reader being misled. Thus a coherent liability structure is important. In India remedies can be sought under torts, Contract Act, Companies Act, IPC and SEBI regulations amongst other myriad possibilities.

Therefore, these forward-looking statements might differ substantially from the actual results. Information disclosed is subject to addition, change or deletion without notice.
